

Assessing Organisational Readiness and Partnership Working
Healthy Cities Belfast
28th April 2010

The big (t)ask

- delivering health improvements
- ensuring health equalities
- involvement of all stakeholders
- working in concert
- doing it jointly
- being integrated and
- being fair

The discussion for today

Partnering approaches ...

- at a strategic level, organisation-driven
- at a more operational level, people-driven
- governance arrangements
- more informal networking

What is partnership?

- targeting high potential relationships and aligning expectations around them
- structuring relationships to maximise effect for the least amount of organisational 'noise'
- developing the will to work together
- identifying the behaviours that underpin success
- synergising and synthesising
- sharing risks as well as resources

Key Questions?

- ❑ Purpose – do we share a common purpose?
- ❑ Structure - does it help or hinder?
- ❑ Relationships – good/bad/ugly?
- ❑ Conflict – can we handle it positively?
- ❑ Rewards – are incentives aligned?
- ❑ Mechanisms – do they coordinate?
- ❑ Leadership – is someone keeping all of this in balance?

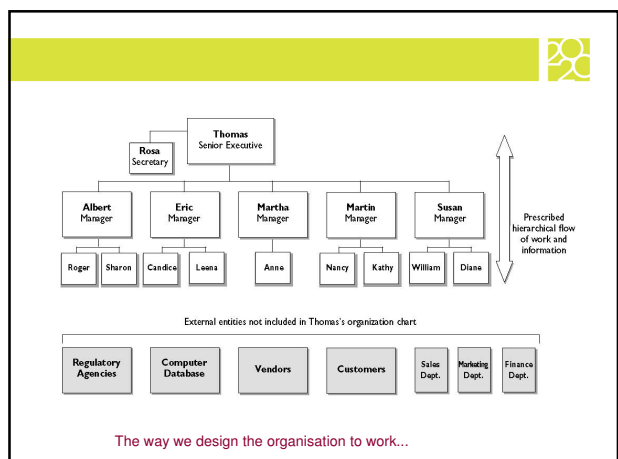

Level of agency working	Main purpose	Demands
Networking	Sharing information	Low level
Alliances	Increasing joint cooperation	Facilitative leaders Formal communication
Partnering	Sharing resources	Centralised group decision-making
Coalition	Sharing ideas, flex resources	Distributed leadership High levels of trust
Collaboration	Delivering a common vision, interdependent system	Highly developed comm's Sophisticated leadership

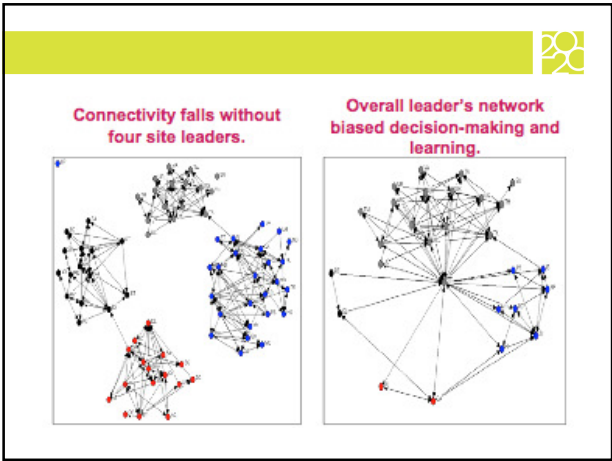

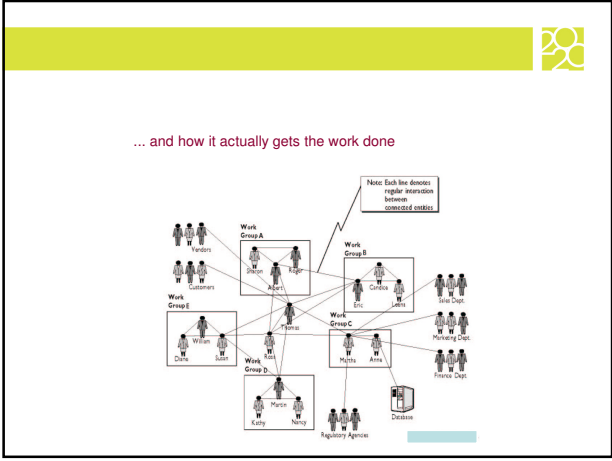

↑ Increasing sophistication ↓

Why have we developed 'Connections'?

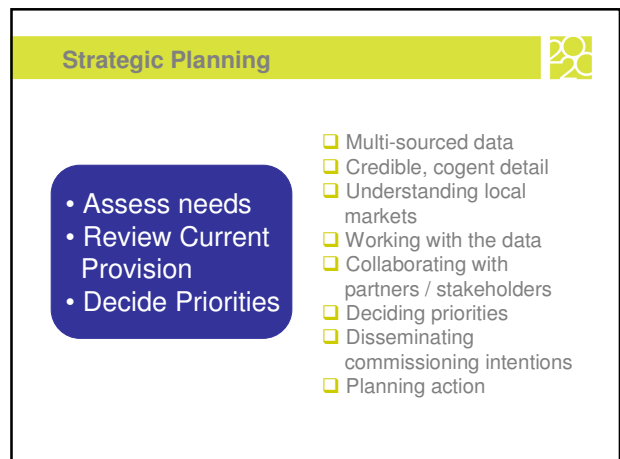

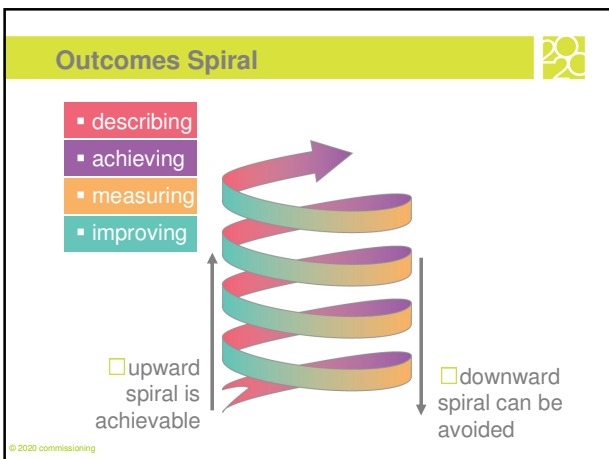

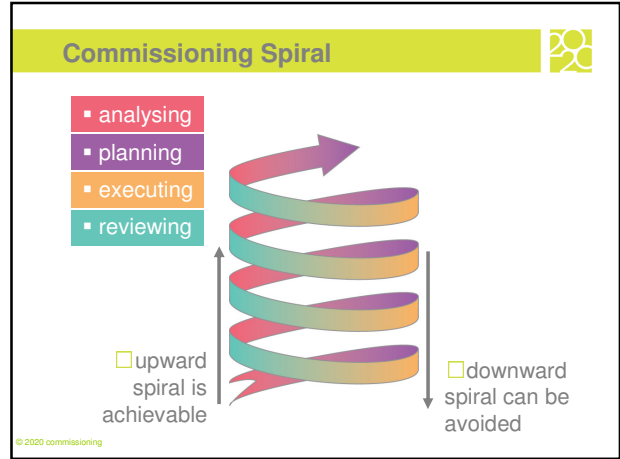

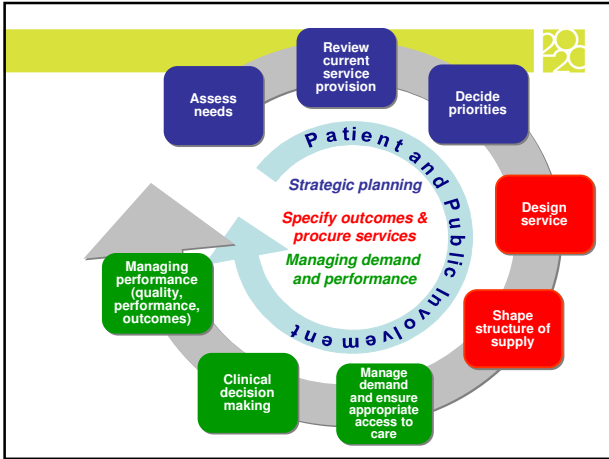

- ❑ Outcomes - delivered by multi-agency networks rather than single organisations
- ❑ Shift from traditional hierarchical to more fluid, agile influence-based systems
- ❑ Requiring both inter- and intra-organisational communication and collaboration...

- To boldly go ...
- Galactic-class leadership, and
 - World class commissioning
